

BJ

aka BlackJack

Are you looking for a furry friend and companion that is loyal, attentive, dances with joy every morning he sees you , very routine oriented, excellent car rider, enjoys walks, or just meandering in the yard with you ? Are you wanting a furry friend that enjoys relaxing in your companionship inside or outside and helping you feel safe by protecting you and your residence? BJ could be the BOY for YOU ! We believe BJ is a German shep mix; this handsome dude is neutered, 52lbs, just turned 5yrs in MAY, , fully vaccinated, heartworm negative, flea/tick free, house trained and crate trained, and walks very well on and off leash (by your side).

BJ is very smart with a loving and attentive demeanor, and his nature is to protect what he loves: his home, his yard, his caretakers. He seems to trust women more easily than men. His JOY and CONTENTMENT comes from being with his human companion. He loves chewing on his bonebones, playing with his stuffed toys, keeping squirrels from his yard, resting in his crate OR beside his caretaker, and he has great recall when his "favorite cookie and/or praise" is given to him. This boy thrives on training and special treats that go with it.

A fenced yard is required in order that BJ can enjoy the freedom of being outside "unchained"(since he was chained most of his life before he came to rescue). BJ would do best with a family of adults only. BJ would do best as an only dog or with an older female dog that displays little energy; sometimes he will show jealousy, typically he shows little interest in other dogs.

BJ encountered some sort of trauma to his back end (we think 3 or 4 yrs ago) which Xrays indicates he has a partially shattered pelvis and displaced hip; he has no disability, and surgery is not a necessity or requirement. Joint supplements, Proin, anti-inflammatory/pain mgmt medication are lifelong requirement; for these reasons ONLY, BJ is considered a "special needs" dog.

IF interested in adopting BJ, please send an adoption application located on the ADOPTME page to Dream4pets.org We typically adopt within a 120mile radius from Miami county OH (Miami County includes Troy, Piqua, West Milton, Tipp City, etc....) but.... there are always "exceptions".
