

Lucy

Lucy is between 1 and 2 years old, 65lbs, lab and maybe shep mix, current on vaccines, the vet believes she has been spayed, and she is hw negative. She is just starting to learn her name and sit. She does very well walking on a leash. She is house broke using potty bells to signal when she wants out. She stays in the house for a few hours and does not bother anything or chew anything up. She gets along great with our dogs and loves to play so would do great as a second dog for someone. She is a fairly large dog so would need a large yard to play in. She does not do well in a kennel, perhaps due to crating too many hours in early years. Caretakers do not have small children but believe she would do well with them as she is gentle by nature. She is curious about our cats but does leave them alone so could be in a home with cats and possibly be ok.
